ABOUT

I am Elliot Erwin and I am an art director, designer and retoucher. In short, I create pictures that tell stories.

Working with photographers and photographs, illustrators and illustration software; I guide and create the pieces that come together to make something greater then the sum of its parts. I am happiest working with vibrant brands that are eager to explore creative and artistic solutions to their problems.

Specialties: art direction, photography, design, retouching, print, new media app concept & design, experiential design and much more.

MERREL WORLDS

This project merged 70% CGI and 30% photography into rich landscapes that my partner in crime, James Adamé, and I pulled off in a very short timeframe. The work has been received in the United States and globally in Germany and Japan with numerous high-fives and “right-ons”.

INTER MILAN

For futbol fans, Inter Milan is one of the most beloved and far reaching brands in the world, so when they came to us to guide their entire approach to social, we knew we had to deliver something flexible, thorough, and distinct.
The result was a 60 page playbook that dictates a consistent approach across multiple platforms in.

BABY SMOOTH

To bring to life Panasonic's claim that they offered the closest electric shave on the market, the idea of "Baby Your Face" was born. Panasonic is now a major player in a market once dominated by Norelco.
